

Associate professor in the graduate, master and doctorate business course of the Federal University of Paraná - UFPR. Coordinator of the Study Group on Management of Innovation, Technology, and Sustainability - EGITS. Consultant Ad-Hod scientific journals, CNPq and CAPES. She holds a Ph.D. (2001) and MA (1996) in Business Administration from the University of São Paulo and a graduate in Business (1991) and in Economics (1990) from the Federal University of Uberlândia. Her research interests are in the area of Management of Technological Innovation and Sustainability, acting on the following topics: alliances, cooperation, and technological partnerships, social technologies, and technology transfer.